The Khulumani Support Group (Khulumani) is a 105,000-strong social movement of survivors that was formed in 1995, on the eve of the start of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission in South Africa (the TRC). After the TRC, Khulumani shifted its focus to campaigning for the 'unfinished business' of the TRC including campaigning for a process that will include thousands of survivors excluded from the TRC, for the prosecution of perpetrators that did not receive amnesty, for reconciliation processes that go beyond elite reconciliation and for a comprehensive reparations scheme. This talk, presented by the chairperson of Khulumani, will offer a critical appraisal of the South African transitional justice process, consider transitional justice-from-below initiatives and explore the role that movements of survivors can play in sustainable peace and social reconciliation efforts.

This event is part of the course ''Comparative Transitional Justice: Retributive and Restorative Approaches'', organized in the framework of the Global Campus of Human Rights Exchange of Lecturers 2017 and coordinated by the European Regional Master's Programme in Democracy and Human Rights (Sarajevo/Bologna), with the Regional Master Programme in Human Rights and Democratization in Africa (Pretoria).

The European Union's Global Campus of Human Rights is a unique network of more than one hundred participating universities around the world, seeking to advance human rights and democracy through regional and global cooperation for education and research. This global network is promoted through seven Regional Programmes which are based in Venice for Europe, in Sarajevo/Bologna for South East Europe, in Yerevan for the Caucasus, in Pretoria for Africa, in Bangkok for Asia-Pacific, in Buenos Aires for Latin America and the Caribbean, and in Beirut for the Arab World.

The event is open to public. For any info contact: info@erma-programme.eu
